

Alaya gavan': World On Fire

Chapter 2 (26): Operation Infernal Anti-Virus

<<Text>> = Japanese, [[text]] = Russian, ++text++ = English ☐text☐ = text message/phone call/radio

[A nightclub in Hashimamoto, Japan, 7-6-2025 8:20 PM]

The nightclub in Hashimamoto would be a lively, neon-lit venue filled with energetic music and vibrant colors as patrons enjoyed the flavorful drinks while their friends danced to the beat, creating an atmosphere of excitement and good times. The modern decor is complimented with sleek furnishings and a spacious dance floor surrounded by private booths and a well-stocked bar with a talented bartender making a grand show of the customers' drink as they put some flair to it

Inside the club would include 8 men dressed in bulky jackets, they act as regular club goers for a few minutes until one pulls out a Glock 18C as the others follow suit with pulling out standard, semi-automatic and machine pistols of various calibers and brands

Man: <<"We're the Anti-Magician League, and this club is owned by a mage by the name of Hagihara Yukio, we have finally got the arms to make you sinners repent!">>

They yelled out as they immediately started to fire upon the club goers, up until all of the lights suddenly cut out, and soon RDT would enter the club all wearing the magicak NVGs (night vision goggles) that helped to highlight any hostiles as red through the lens

AML A: <<"Hey! Who the hell cut out the lig-">>

The leader of the small group would be interrupted as he was shot up by Tepache while the other AML members tried to fire back after seeing the muzzle flash from her AKS-74U to no luck, soon they would be shot down by both Ranga and Daiki until there was only two AML members left, seeing the carnage and lack of manpower, they quickly dropped their guns and got on their knees with their hands in the air

[Inside a hotel in Hashimamoto, Japan, 7-7-2025 10:30 AM]

Ranga, Daiki, Tepache were hanging out around the lobby of the hotel with Kotone

Ranga: <<"So what was with those AML guys anyways?">>

Daiki: <<"Yeah, seems odd that they would just show up out of nowhere.">>

Tepache would stay quiet as she listened to them talk while she drank some warm coffee

Kotone: <<"If you must know, they believe that all magic is inherently evil, and we also found a few boxes full of weapons from their recent shipment that had a note attached labeled as “From: A. Sugi, To: AML”. I think it’s clear that Ami wants to use those guys to keep us busy, other than that, enjoy your vacation guys!”>>

Tepache: <<“Hm, I see.”>>

[Abandoned warehouse, Hashimamoto, Japan 7-7-2025 11:40 AM]

Caden, Hanae, along with a few US Marines and JSDF soldiers arrived at an abandoned warehouse

Caden: <<“You guys sure that this is the place?”>>

Hanae: <<“Yep, it definitely is.”>>

[Perspective: AML]

Several AML troops could be seen lounging around the warehouse while drawing out plans for attack, they could be seen carrying M16A2s, Glock 18Cs, and Remington Model 870 shotguns as the warehouse was turned into a small outpost for them

Soon enough, the USMC and JSDF forces breached into the building and the AML would fire upon them, of course, the combined forces would fire back twice over as both Caden and Hanae took cover behind one of the pillars of the warehouse and engaged with the enemy

Many of the AML operatives dropped dead due to the attack by the US Marines and JSDF soldiers, as the fighting still continues, Hanae and Caden would be the ones to lead the attack for a bit, allowing them to crave throughout the warehouse with ease. After a long firefight, the battlefield would be empty as several of the US marines and JSDF soldiers remove the corpses out of the warehouse

Caden and Hanae soon took pictures of the map with several dots drawn on known universities which teach magic and other magic focused schools. Each dot was a different color with a number, there was also a set of dates and time written with a numbered dot next to it

Hanae: ++“Good thing we came just in time!”++

[Inside a hotel, Hashimamoto, Japan 7-10-2025 10:25 AM]

Caden and Hanae could be seen within the hotel lobby, hanging out with Ranga, Daiki, and Tepache... Tepache was carrying two gun cases

Tepache: ++“It was a bitch getting these through customs, but I did! Here is some weapons for your future operations!”++

Tepache would set down the two cases and opened them for both Hanae and Caden, in one case, there would be a .300 BLK SIG MCX-SPEAR LT, and on the other case was an Ohio Ordinance Works REAPR in .338 Lapua Magnum as Hanae picks up the MCX-SPEAR and Caden picks the REAPR, making a whistle as he admired the one of a kind machine gun

[Hashimamoto University, Japan 7-10-2025 1:25 PM]

The University of Hashimamoto was left completely empty, with the only people left in the university being the JSDF forces and USMC forces. Soon enough, a few cars pulled up to the university as what came out of the cars was a few armed AML operators

The AML troops would march quietly to the campus of the university, only to be met with immediate gunfire from the USMC and JSDF forces as Caden used his REAPR to take away their souls by the dozens while everyone else would take them out one by one

As for their JSDF allies, Hanae would lead the squad to an alternate route to the campus grounds as they shut off the lights, temporarily blinding the AML troops with the darkness as both Haden and her JSDF forces use their NVGs to shoot down the AML operators with a fury of suppressed bullets while the remaining others were shot down by both Caden and the USMC as the JSDF forces brought back the lights

JSDF A: <<“Good work.”>>

[USMC Camp Hobson, Okinawa, Japan, 7-11-2025 1:25 PM]

After handling the prior mission, the joint forces returned to the USMC Camp as both a commander and a translator stood in front of all of the JSDF and USMC infantry at the base, behind the commander was the LDB training pods that had recently been installed

USMC A: ++"Good afternoon everyone, today, Lagunov's Defense Ballistics has provided us with their state of the art training pods, they have set these ones to mimic an attack by netdemon warriors. That is to say, one team respawns in a virtual realm to simulate the netdemon's ability to constantly keep coming from anywhere, meanwhile the other team only gets three lives. If you managed to perfecten your survival instincts, the closer we are to taking them down, now go!"++

After the briefing, the JSDF and USMC forces would get into the training pods, causing the pods to activate as it transported them into a virtual battlefield, with one team wearing red and the other team wearing blue armor skins

The virtual battlefield is a meticulously recreated version of Osaka, complete with its iconic landmarks and dense urban environment as the streets are filled with high-rise buildings, narrow alleyways, and bustling marketplaces. Virtual civilians would populate the area, adding to the realism and complexity of the training exercise.

The red and blue teams find themselves navigating through this digital Osaka, with some players utilizing the urban terrain to their advantage. If the blue team manages to push through, they expect key areas of engagement to include the Dotonbori District, the Umeda Sky Building, and the Osaka Castle.

The virtual training environment pushes the JSDF and USMC forces to their limits, allowing them to hone their skills in urban warfare and cooperative tactics under the most challenging conditions.

The fighting would be intense, Blue Team would capture Dotonbori District quickly while pilling up bodies of the digital civilians of the city, while Red Team would capture the area around the Umeda Sky Building, and the Osaka Castle. Red Team would have the civvies be protected in excavation zones while a dozen squads from Red Team advanced towards Dotonbori with trucks, APCs, tanks, and helicopters.

*Blue Team, fortified within Dotonbori District would leverage the urban environment to their advantage by utilizing barricades and makeshift cover, they established choke points at key intersections as it helped in making it difficult for Red Team's vehicles to advance. The rooftop snipers led by the US marines provided overwatch, picking off advancing Red Team infantry and targeting vehicle weak points with their precision rifles. *

As Red Team's APCs and tanks approached, Blue Team deployed anti-armor weapons from their hidden positions, effectively neutralizing the mechanized threat with RPGs and anti-tank launchers as they used the narrow streets to their advantage, setting ambushes with mines and I.E.Ds which they taught to the JSDF. Meanwhile, the helicopters were engaged by Blue Team's shoulder-launched missiles, causing significant losses for the Red Team.

Throughout the engagement, Blue Team maintained strong communication and coordination, rapidly redeploying forces to hotspots as Red Team tried to breach their defenses; despite the overwhelming numbers and firepower of Red Team, Blue Team's strategic use of the urban terrain and tactical discipline allowed them to repel the assault. In the end, Blue Team's superior defensive strategy and effective use of the urban environment led to their victory in the intense simulated battle

[Okuhoro, Japan, 7-20-2025 7:00 AM]

A Toyota Noah drives into the city of Okuhoro, it was a pretty large city. In the car was Ayaka, Mariko, Takeda and the driver, the driver soon stops at one of the many hotels and MAT (Mariko, Ayaka and Takeda) get out of the car once it pulls into the parking lot

Mariko was dressed in a gray jacket, white t-shirt, light gray skirt, dark gray leggings and light gray shoes. Ayaka was dressed in a similarly gray outfit, consisting of a short sleeve shirt, skirt, thigh high socks and two toned shoes. Lastly, Takeda was dressed in a yellow polo, gray bucket hat and pants, and black combat boots, she was also carrying a duffle bag

Driver: <<“Have a nice vacation”>>

Ayaka: <<“We will thanks!”>>

Mariko, Ayaka and Takeda soon enter into the lobby of the hotel and pay for a room, once in their room a convo would spark between the three of them

Takeda: <<“Now that we are here, what should we do?”>>

Ayaka: <<“I was thinking of just visiting a cafe”>>

Mariko: <<“I am done with whatever you two decide is good... But really quick, did you guys pack your weapons in those anti metal detector duffle bags?”>>

Takeda: Holding a duffle bag <<“Ofcourse we did!”>>

Mariko: <<“Good, I think we should rest before we go anywhere”>>

[Okuhoro, Japan, 7-20-2025 10:20 AM]

A few cars drove into the city, these cars containing the last of the Anti-Magician League as they pull up to the hotel which Mariko, Ayaka, and Takeda were staying at. They enter into the hotel's lobby as they speak to the receptionist with about 12 AML members remaining on standby as one of them spoke

AML B: <<“Excuse me sir, but have these three ladies checked into this hotel?”>>

Receptionist: <<“Uh, why do you want to kno-”>>

AML B reached into their bulky jacket and pulled out a Walther P99 pistol, pointing it at the wall behind the receptionist and firing a round, the receptionist would try to reach for his phone but AML B shot him until he was dead

AML: <<“Alright men, check the logs. Luckily for us, the police in this city have been paid off.”>>

[Okuhoro, Japan, 7-20-2025 10:35 AM]

Soon Mariko, Ayaka and Takeda pull up to the hotel as they notice two AML members holding MP5A3s with ISTEK 201 underbarrel grenade launchers. The two AML members immediately fire upon them as 10 other members come out, firing at MAT's (Mariko, Ayaka, and Takeda) general direction with their respective weapons

[Okuhoro, Japan, 7-20-2025 10:35 AM]

Takeda dropped the pretty large duffle bag onto the ground as the three of them took cover behind a car, while taking cover, they pulled out their respective weapons; Takeda taking her H&K UMP-45, Ayaka with her B&T APC-9K, and Mariko would grab a H&K USP Match chambered in 9x19mm Parabellum as she transforms into her Magical Girl form

The two MP5 users started to advance toward MAT's location but would soon be shot up by the trio as they focused on the 10 remaining members. Mariko led the charge as she kept running quickly while firing her handgun at the 5 AML members; thanks to her Magical Girl form, her shots remained just as accurate as if she was standing still as she successfully took out all 5 AML members with clean headshots

As the five remaining AML members regrouped, Ayaka and Takeda swiftly coordinated their attack as two Remington 870 users launched buckshot and slugs in their direction before taking cover as the two M16A2 users and juggernaut AML member split up.

Ayaka maintained a low stance as she moved quickly along to the side of another civilian's car as she spotted the two Remington 870 users attempting to take cover, she then unleashed a rapid burst of 9x19mm Parabellum rounds from her APC-9K. The two AML members barely had time to react as Ayaka struck one in the chest and the other in the head, neutralizing them swiftly. Meanwhile, Takeda focused her attention on the more heavily armed opponents as the two M16A2 users attempted to set up a defensive position, but were quickly shut down as she fired several shots using the car to minimize her exposure; the .45 ACP rounds pierced through the weaker armor of the M16A2 users, as they tried to fight back by dumping their entire magazine of 5.56 NATO rounds at her.

The final AML member was equipped with an M249 SAW and rifle-grade body armor posed a much more significant challenge as he sprayed the area with suppressive fire from his machine gun, causing both Ayaka and Takeda to take cover behind another car while his two remaining allies reloaded their assault rifles. Ayaka peeked from cover as she shot down the two remaining AML members armed with their M16A2s with a Remington 870 shotgun that she had picked up, causing them to drop their rifles as they bled out; seizing the opportunity, Takeda emerged from cover and aimed for the exposed parts of the juggernaut's body, particularly the neck and lower torso as her UMP-45 rounds caused the armored AML member to begin staggering from the shot before finally collapsing on one knee, allowing Ayaka to emerge from cover and finish him off with a shotgun blast from their shotgun

Mariko: <<“Alright girls, lets get to cleaning this mess up.”>>

END OF ACT 3 CHAPTER 2

Act 3 Chapter 3: RDT VS. The LAPD

Written by Charcoal and James The Creator